DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. Claims 92, 93, 96, 97, 98, 102-130, rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. A useful, concrete and tangible result must be either specifically recited in the claim or flow inherently therefrom.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 94, 95, 99-101, 131-159, are allowed.

3. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The closest prior art shows an apparatus for generating a three-dimensional volume projection image of an object, the apparatus having cubic frame buffer but does not disclose a system of assigning a location in the frame buffer for the three dimensional image data in accordance with the equation:

Addr=N.sub.b/p*(x+N.sub.x*y+N.sub.x*N.sub.Y- *z.sub.i) wherein Addr is the assigned memory location in the multiplanar frame buffer for image data having coordinates (x, y, z), N.sub.b/p is the number of bytes of information stored for each pixel, N.sub.x is the number of pixels in the x direction of a display, N.sub.Y is the number of pixels in the y dimension of a display, and Z.sub.i is an integer portion of the scaled z-coordinate value.

The closest prior art shows an apparatus for generating a three-dimensional volume projection image of an object, the apparatus having cubic frame buffer but does not disclose a system of assigning a location in the frame buffer for the three dimensional image data in accordance with the equation: $Addr = N.sub.B/P * (r * \cos(\theta)) + N.sub.r * y' + N.sub.r * N.sub.y' * r * \sin(\theta)$ wherein Addr is the assigned memory location in the multiplanar frame buffer for image data having coordinates (r, y' and theta), N.sub.B/P is the number of bytes of information stored for each pixel, N.sub.r is the number of pixels in the r direction of a display, N.sub.y' is the number of pixels in the y dimension of the three-dimensional volumetric display.

The closest prior art shows an apparatus for generating a three-dimensional volume projection image of an object, the apparatus having cubic frame buffer but does not disclose a step of discarding the three dimensional image data associated with a second pixel if the transparency information associated with a first pixel indicates that the first pixel is opaque, when the first pixel and the second pixel have the same (x,y) coordinate values, and the z-coordinate value associated with the second pixel indicates that the second pixel is behind the first pixel.

The closest prior art shows an apparatus for generating a three-dimensional volume projection image of an object, the apparatus having cubic frame buffer but does not disclose a step of modulating the color information / brightness information associated with a second pixel based on the transparency information associated with a first pixel, when the first pixel and the second pixel have the same (x,y) coordinate values, and the z-coordinate value associated with the second pixel indicates that the second pixel is behind the first pixel.

The closest prior art shows an apparatus for generating a three-dimensional volume projection image of an object, the apparatus having cubic frame buffer but does not disclose a three-dimensional image display system for displaying a three-dimensional image on a three-dimensional volumetric display comprising: computing memory addresses in the multiplanar frame buffer for the three-dimensional image data using the coordinate information and information as to pixel dimensions of the three-dimensional volumetric display, each of said memory addresses corresponding to a pixel to be displayed.
